Weleda products suitable for people intolerant to gluten (celiac disease)

The products listed below either don't contain raw materials derived from wheat, oat or other cereals which can contain gluten, or they are classified as harmless for patients with celiac disease (like distillate of alcohol from gluten-containing cereals) according to EC Guideline 2005/26/EC. Therefore the products listed below and all Weleda cosmetics which are used on skin are suitable for people intolerant to gluten.

Because these products are produced in the same production chains as the products that contain gluten, and because our suppliers of raw materials (like vegetable oils) may process these raw materials in the same production chains as raw materials containing gluten, we cannot guarantee that the products are totally free from gluten. But it is improbable that the gluten content will exceed 20 mg/kg, which is the prescribed limit for labeling a foodstuff with the term "gluten-free" (acc. EC regulation 41/2009).

Weleda foodstuffs:

All Weleda foodstuffs are suitable for people intolerant to gluten (the products are "gluten-free"):

Weleda cosmetics:

All cosmetic products used only on skin (e.g. all facial care and body care products, all cleansing products), are suitable for people intolerant to gluten, because they are not ingested if used as intended.

Below, we list the Weleda cosmetics which can potentially be ingested during the course of their intended use* but are still suitable for people intolerant to gluten (according to the regulations prescribed for food products).
